COUNTY MAY EXCEED ITS BOND QUOTA 2 MILLIONS

More Than Ninety Thousand Liberty Loan Subscribers Within Borders of Alameda County; Bond to Every Five

OAKLAND INVESTS NEARLY $7,500,000

Many Eleventh-Hour Buyers Are Applying to Banks to Secure Share in the Best Security in the Wide World

Alameda county in the third Liberty loan has gone "over the top" with nearly two millions to spare.

Oakland, with a quota of less than seven millions to date has subscribed nearly seven and one-half millions.

The figures are still coming into the Liberty loan headquarters from the banks throughout the county, so the above totals, while making what is regarded as a splendid showing for the county as a whole and the various districts, must not be considered as the county's total contribution in the third Liberty loan.

Executive Chairman Joseph H. King of the Liberty loan committee and other committee officials still believe that when the final figures are reported the amounts shown will place Alameda county at the head of the list of communities in the United States as regards the distribution of bonds.

ONE BOND SOLD TO EVERY FIVE PERSONS.

According to King, approximately one Liberty bond has been sold to every five persons in the county. This approximation is based upon last Saturday morning's report, which is not considered to be accurate, inasmuch as a general dispute has arisen regarding the actual population of the county. The committee has appealed to every available authority in the county and no two have as yet agreed on a figure. To date the number of bonds purchased in the county is officially placed at over 90,000.

The totals on May 4 follow:

Towns	Quota	Subscription
Oakland	$6,860,475	$7,435,350
Berkeley	1,139,157	1,587,150
Alameda	481,725	738,450
Livermore	182,025	203,505
San Leandro	214,125	234,750
Hayward	217,050	267,800
Centerville
(Newark)	76,875	110,350
Pleasanton	87,750	110,800
Alvarado	53,350	64,500
Niles	16,150	35,000
Irvington (Mission San Jose, W. Springs)	24,150	35,550
Emeryville	41,100	97,700

Totals $9,442,500 $11,333,550

COMMITTEE GUIDED BY RECOGNIZED FIGURES

The committee has announced that it will be guided by such county population figures as are recognized by the government, and that no figures which come from sources which in the opinion of the committee might be influenced by tendencies to either inflate, or deflate, will be considered.

However, according to King, the latest government figures, that of the United States census of 1910, will not be considered, as a period of eight years would show a material change in the actual figures.

One of the sources the committee is relying upon is a report which is now being compiled by special workers based upon guides now being recognized by the local postoffice. In order to get at a very close estimation the figures thus obtained will be checked against the latest possible information that can be obtained from the communities themselves which are concerned.

It was reported this morning at the Liberty loan headquarters that more than a score of persons called to purchase Liberty bonds. Many of these desired to make substantial subscriptions and they were all referred to the local downtown banks.

MANY SUBSCRIPTIONS ARE STILL EXPECTED

It is possible that many subscriptions will be taken between now and Wednesday, as the local banks have been given until that time to make returns to the Federal reserve bank of the United States.

Bankers in the outside districts reported by phone this morning that a number of "stragglers" had applied for bonds. Hence, it is not believed that the actual subscriptions of the county will be definitely known until Thursday morning.

Daily reports will continue to be made to the Liberty loan committee until that time.

Shells Blot Out Hun Trenches

U. S. Forces Take Offensive

PARIS, May 6.—The American artillery fired 60,000 shells into the German trenches before a recent attack, completely blotting them out, it was announced here today.

By FRED S. FERGUSON,
United Press Staff Correspondent.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY WEST OF MONTDIER, Sunday, May 5.—American guns are shelling Montdier, Cantigny, Mesnil-St. Georges and other towns and roads in this vicinity captured by the Germans some time ago.

Montdier, which can be seen from observation posts in the American lines, has been badly knocked about, but the church is still standing. The Cantigny church also is intact, although it probably is used as a German observation post.

ENEMY AMMUNITION DUMP IS BLOWN UP

What American artillery blew up what probably was an ammunition dump near Cantigny, the fire lasting half an hour.

There is great aerial activity in this sector. Two Boches planes recently were shot down and another was captured.

The Germans have introduced a new method of using gas. They are throwing over glass bottles, apparently filled with springs, which burst and liberate noxious fumes.

Three Germans recently were captured by a Yankee trick. Nine of them attempted a raid on an American post. Three of them were caught. One of these escaped, but before reaching the German lines he encountered another American patrol and was wounded and recaptured.

An American patrol which encountered more than forty Boches in No Man's Land fought its way safely back to the American lines, inflicting heavy casualties on the Germans.

AMERICAN PATROL PENETRATES HUN LINE

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN LORRAINE, Sunday, May 5.—An American patrol penetrated German lines in the village of Ancerville to a depth of 300 yards this morning, overcoming an observation post, taking four Boches prisoner and killing three.

Elsewhere, everything is quiet.

Ancerville is three miles and a half northwest of Radonville and is six miles and a half south of the German border. It is in the so-called Lunville sector.

At the same time the order for investigation was announced President Wilson's correspondence with Gutzon Borglum, the sculptor, who made an investigation of the aircraft production situation, was given out at the White House yesterday.

The president last month advised Borglum he never considered him an official investigator and practically disposed of his services.

Investigation by the department of justice was asked of the President by Howard Coffin, formerly chairman of the aircraft board, who declared he requested it that the reputation of innocent men might not be ruined by charges that have been made.

The aircraft situation has brought repeated charges of inefficiency on the part of those in charge of it and demands for an inquiry prompted President Wilson to name an investigation committee headed by Snowdon Marshall. About the same time the President authorized Borglum to make an investigation.

Borglum's report never was made public formally, although it had been known to some extent. It was known that the sculptor had made charges against those in control and had alleged there was graft in production of planes.

The correspondence, in its order of procession, follows:

"December 5, 1917.
"My dear Borglum: Your letter of November 22 to Mr. Tammity he was kind enough to show me and I had much to write you about it. Of course, what you say disturbs me not a little, and I write to ask you if you will not do me the great favor of indicating as specifically as possible the weakness you see in our present organization in the matter of aeronautics. I would also appreciate it very warmly if you would tell me what men or practical gifts not now connected with the government are best qualified to handle the problem."

WASHINGTON, May 6.—The Sherwood bill granting a minimum pension of $25 a month to Civil war veterans was passed by the House today, and now goes to the Senate.

Department of Justice to Take Hand in General Investigation; Pro-German Influence Accusation to Be Big Angle

MACHINE GUN WORK ALSO FAILURE: KAHN

Sensational Testimony Expected When Sculptor Is Placed Before High Officers to Give Evidence in His Accusations

WASHINGTON, May 6.—The White House this afternoon took a hand in the aircraft situation.

President Wilson, it was officially announced, has directed the attorney-general to cooperate with the Senate military affairs committee in a sweeping investigation, and specifically, it was understood, to investigate the charges of Gutzon Borglum, who made an inquiry into the work of the aircraft board at the request of the President.

Borglum's charges of pro-German influence will also be gone into. It was made plain that in the event the Senate committee is not inclined to proceed with such a probe, it would be conducted by the attorney-general independently.

It was also made plain that the Senate committee is not inclined to proceed with such a probe, it would be conducted by the attorney-general independently.

THE SENATE COMMITTEE WOULD GIVE PROBE FREE HAND

The Senate military affairs committee is disposed to give the department of justice a free hand in conducting the aircraft investigation unless the Senate specifically instructs it otherwise.

This was the attitude of Senator Chamberlain of Oregon, chairman of the committee, and Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, who has taken the leading part in the committee's inquiries into the aviation situation in the past.

A meeting of the committee probably will be held tomorrow definitely to decide the course to be followed.

"The committee would do whatever the Senate instructs it to do," said Senator Chamberlain. "But in the absence of definite instructions, it is my personal opinion that the aircraft situation is more properly a subject for investigation by the department of justice."

"The committee has already made an investigation and has made a report showing the condition of the aircraft industry. If it went any further, it is possible that we might receive information of value to the enemy. Besides, the charges now made are of such a nature as to require the attention of the attorney-general rather than the military affairs committee."

BORGUM INVESTIGATION IS NOT HELD OFFICIAL

At the same time the order for investigation was announced President Wilson's correspondence with Gutzon Borglum, the sculptor, who made an investigation of the aircraft production situation, was given out at the White House yesterday.

The president last month advised Borglum he never considered him an official investigator and practically disposed of his services.

About the same time the President authorized Borglum to make an investigation.

Borglum's report never was made public formally, although it had been known to some extent. It was known that the sculptor had made charges against those in control and had alleged there was graft in production of planes.

British, French Forces Make Gains; Beat Huns on Both Sides of Somme

LONDON, May 6.—British troops advanced their lines on a "considerable front" on both sides of the Somme, despite strong enemy resistance, Field Marshal Haig reported today.

"Between the Somme and the Ancre and west and southwest of Morlancourt (midway between Albert and the Somme) we advanced our lines on a considerable front, in spite of strong opposition," the statement said. "We captured 150 prisoners, two machine guns and a trench mortar."

"At Morlancourt the enemy's losses were heavy."

"Our losses at Morlancourt last night were slight."

"In local fighting during the night we improved our positions in the neighborhood of Locon and on the Law river (southern portion of the Flanders front.)"

By United Press.

THE British lines were extended in the sectors of the Somme and Ancre rivers and in the neighborhood of Morlancourt, while the positions were improved in the Locon sector (Morlancourt lies about half-way between the Ancre and Somme rivers and is between three and four miles south of Albert).

SEVERE LOSSES INFLICTED ON HUNS

The Germans put up sharp resistance in local fighting between the Somme and Ancre rivers and sustained severe losses. The British captured over 150 prisoners, two machine guns and a trench mortar. The British casualties were slight.

In the Locon sector (just north of the Law river) an enterprise ended to the advantage of the British. (This district lies between three and four miles north of the British railroad position of Bethune.)

PARIS, May 6.—"After violently bombarding our positions, the Germans attempted to reach our lines southwest of Amiens, on the Picardy front, but were completely repulsed, leaving many corpses on the ground."

"The enemy's line was twice raided and also southeast of Noyon. We took some prisoners."

"In the Champagne district, we penetrated a German position north of Loivre (west of Rheims), and after a lively combat inflicting heavy losses, we returned with much material."

"In the Lorraine sector, in the region of Abancourt, our reconnaissances were successful."

"We captured some prisoners without sustaining any losses ourselves. Elsewhere there is nothing to report."

The Germans, when they renew their offensive on the western front, may develop a double drive, according to General Berthelot, writing in the Matin. General Berthelot said:

"What is most probable is that the Flanders hills will undergo a new attack independent of that which may be directed toward Amiens. The German masses are sufficiently large for the undertaking of the double task without a lateral movement of troops."

BEGIN SYSTEMATIC DESTRUCTION OF AMIENS

WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES IN THE FIELD, May 6.—The Germans Saturday and Sunday began the systematic destruction of Amiens, the same as they annihilated Rheims. They hurled more than 160 shells and six aerial torpedoes into the city, causing heavy property damage, killing some civilians and endangering the cathedral, the palace of justice and the museum. The latter contains the famous Pavis de Channes murals.

Amiens was evacuated by a large proportion of the civilian population some time ago. Recent despatches declared that Rheims practically had been razed and stated the famous cathedral there was so badly wrecked that its collapse was imminent.

GERMANS REPORT REPULSE OF ATTACKS

BERLIN (via London), May 6.—Repulse of Anglo-French attacks on the Flanders battlefield is reported in the official announcement by the war office today. More than 200 prisoners are reported captured in the fighting. Increased artillery activity south of the Somme is announced in the statement, which reads:

"After the strongest artillery preparation French divisions attacked our positions on Kemmel Hill and near Halluut unsuccessfully. They were repulsed with heavy losses and left over 200 prisoners in our hands. An intended attack by an English division west of Bailleul failed to develop because of our fire."

AMSTERDAM, May 6.—The Austrian war office announced that heavy artillery duels continue all along the Italian front, said Vienna despatches today.

Suffrage Test Loses by One Vote Margin

WASHINGTON, May 6.—By a margin of one vote, a motion proposing the Senate proceed next Friday to consider the House women suffrage resolution to the constitution was defeated in the Senate today. The vote was 40 to 21, just less than the necessary two-thirds.

GERMANS AIM AT NORTH SEA COAST PORTS

By HENRY G. WALES, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, May 6.—Renewal of German activity against the Belgians at the extreme northwestern battle front indicates that a blow is impending there having the twofold object of spreading southward along the North Sea coast, menacing Dunkirk and of driving in the northern flanks of the Ypres salient.

An official report, issued by the Belgian war office, said: "In the night time an enemy party that was attempting to approach our advanced positions in the region of of Neuport (on the coast) was dispersed by our artillery fire. "There was moderate activity during the day in the sector of Mercken and Boesinghe and towards Neuport."

USE MARINES. The Germans had been protecting the Neuport sector with a naval division composed of marines, but these were transferred to the Schme and took part in the German grand offensive which began March 21. The marines were badly cut up in the fighting in front of Amiens.

The naval forces were replaced on the coast by landwehr, but recently the landwehr were replaced by active first-line troops. The Germans occupy favorable positions along the dunes for an attack over a five-mile front in the Neuport zone, which is hardly enough for elbow room.

Between Neuport and Dixmude the country is flooded and there is a barrier three or four miles wide in front of the Boches.

On the Yser canal the Germans hold positions on the bank that they captured in a surprise attack last August.

Local Girls Make Debut As Dancers at Kinema With "Blue Bird"

Helen and Thelma Morgan, whose clever dancing has delighted their own little coterie of friends and who made such a sensation at the Auditorium last night, are proving an attractive number in "Blue Bird" program at Kinema this week, where they render an introduction to Masterlinck's beautiful drama.

The program which is being given at the Kinema is an exceptionally well balanced one and of more than passing interest. The presentation of the Belgian poet Masterlinck's "Blue Bird" is being made even more artistic and appreciative through the addition of a beautiful program of the Bluebird by the dainty little Alameda misses. The story of the "Blue Bird" must surely prove refreshing at this time, for it is the first message of gladness and idealism that has come to the screen since the war came to America. The pure joy and beauty of this remarkable spectacle combined with the clear Masterlinck philosophy, will make it a decided contrast to the morose and grim dramas, which are produced so often now.

On this same program, Dug Fairbanks is shown smashing the Kaiser to hell, the Paramount Photoplay is especially interesting and the News Weekly is shown at the Oakland Kinema for the first time on the coast.—Advertisement.

Ten Fall in Action; U. S. List Is Long One

U. S. ARRESTS 14 ON SOUTH AMERICAN SHIP

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS. LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

AN ATLANTIC PORT, May 6.—Fourteen persons, one a German, were arrested when a British steamship arrived here today from a South American port. Government officials met the vessel and perhaps never since this country entered the war were passengers subjected to a more thorough examination.

The German it was said, was placed under guard by the quarter-master soon after he had boarded the vessel and was not allowed to appear on deck. In their search for contraband goods, government agents even broke two hollow canes he carried and also seized phonograph records in his baggage.

Many papers of other passengers and the crew were confiscated. American custom officials were not permitted to carry ashore a passenger list and all passports were given minute scrutiny.

Lieutenant Commander W. H. Booth, U. S. N., who arrived on the steamship, said that search in the southern waters for the missing naval cyclists had failed to reveal a trace of her.

Passengers brought a story to the effect that on March 18, two weeks after the Cyclists left a Caribbean port and long before the collier was reported missing, an advertisement appeared in a Portuguese newspaper in Rio Janeiro announcing that a requiem mass would be celebrated for Alfred L. Moreau Gottschalk, United States consul-general in Rio Janeiro.

"Lost when the Cyclists was sunk at sea. It was not until April 15 that the navy department announced that the collier was missing. The advertisement, appearing nearly a month before the official announcement, was frankly an advertisement for a requiem mass would be celebrated for Alfred L. Moreau Gottschalk, United States consul-general in Rio Janeiro.

The passengers said it was suspected that the advertisement was inserted by German agents to transmit a report of their operations.

WILLIAMS CHOSEN TO SUCCEED GIER

Harry G. Williams was today appointed to the place on the Alameda county development board vacant by the dismissal recently of Colonel Theodore Gier. Williams is a coal dealer at Webster and Fourteenth streets and was formerly a candidate for city commissioner. His appointment was unanimous.

A resolution prepared by District Attorney Ezra W. Decoto defines the responsibility of the public for the preservation during the dry season. The resolution provides for a six-foot fire strip around any field or plot where there is growing grain or grass, prohibits smoking of cigarettes or cigars in any field of growing grain or grass, and provides for fire extinguishers and other measures of precaution in all storehouses where grain or hay is stored.

The resolution was referred for later consideration. A resolution was passed expressing regret over the death of George B. McClellan, killed in the San Francisco plant of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation.

McClellan was formerly a watchman in the tax collector's office, and was given leave of absence to work as a shipbuilder. He was killed Sunday by a falling weight.

A resolution was passed calling for an election for the Thousand Oaks boulevard district, the purpose of which is to have the boulevards of the residence section outside of the city limits incorporated as a section of the state highway.

MRS. BAILEY SAYS SHE HAD SUFFERED FOR FIFTEEN YEARS

The best evidence of the merits of a medicine is what people who have actually had it have to say about it. Mrs. Mildred Bailey, who is the mother of twelve children and resides with her husband at 2622 West Fifty-eighth street in Washington, D. C., relating her experience with Tanlac said:

"Tanlac certainly is a splendid medicine. At first I had no idea it was in my case, and I sincerely hope my statement will be the cause of others who are suffering like I did, finding relief. There was hardly a winter in fifteen years that I did not suffer. I always had to be very careful about my eating, as a gas was being taken in my stomach and got up around my heart, and caused me a great deal of pain. My stomach was so upset that I often felt like everything I had eaten was coming back. I had to keep quiet for fear it would. I also suffered a great deal with rheumatism in my shoulders and my troubles altogether made me very nervous and restless, and kept me awake a good deal at night, which caused me to suffer very often from nervous headache. My system was very much run down and more than half the time I could use barely drag through with my household work."

After reading the Tanlac testimonials in the papers I concluded to see if it would help me, and I must say it is. Before I began taking it I weighed one hundred and thirty pounds. I now weigh one hundred and forty. I have actually gained ten pounds, and have been relieved entirely of the gas, and every sign of indigestion. My appetite is fine and I can eat just anything without suffering in the least. I feel like a new person. I am glad to testify to its value, especially in cases like mine. Tanlac is indeed a wonderful medicine for the regulation of the stomach and correction of indigestion, but it is no uncommon thing for persons who have used it to find that it has relieved them not only of indigestion, but also of rheumatism, kidney derangements, and many other ailments not generally recognized as having their origin in stomach trouble.

U. S. SENDING RESERVE ARMY ACROSS SEA

WASHINGTON, May 6.—America is now shipping small armies to France in response to the allied appeal for reserves.

During May and June contemplated shipments will more than equal the fighting strength of the combined Belgian and Portuguese forces on the west front.

July and August will show a slight decline in the average, as added tonnage is turned to the task of getting across newly-needed supplies in increased quantities.

In the fall and winter months the work of building up this country's fighting forces abroad will be more methodical. Divisions torn apart for the purpose of brigading units with the British and French will be brought together and organizations left behind will be sent to complete a cohesive all-American army.

It is proposed to have a registration on June 5 for all young men who have reached 21 since the last registration. This will create a new reservoir of class one men, now being rapidly depleted by the heavy drafts of April and May. At the present rate, July 1 will find few in class one remaining, unless the war department has completed its classification of the new thousands. Hence, there may be some slight slowing up in draft calls during June and July.

Threaten Reprisals for Prager Hanging

AMSTERDAM, May 6.—The lynching at Collinsville, Ill., last month of Robert F. Prager, a German, who was accused of disloyalty by the mob which hanged him, has infuriated German editors. The Zeitung Am Mittag of Berlin calls upon the German government to make strong representations to Washington, reminding the American government that Germany holds a number of American prisoners, upon whom reprisals might be taken.

Dancers Thrill at the Orpheum

Cohan Play at Macdonough

Morgan Aggregation
Leads Good Vaudeville Bill

"The House of Glass"
Is Greeted With Cheers

Once in a while vaudeville proves its pre-eminence as the true exponent of the classic art, and this week at the Orpheum, Manager Harry E. Cornell has given us one such demonstration.

This is not a mere assertion in superlative terms of the show, but a statement of the fact, capable of being maintained.

During the past week thousands of people have passed before Halg Patigan's unique stage "History," on exhibition at the Palace Hotel.

But the vaudeville is treated with far greater respect and with no demerit upon the imagination, as the Orpheum, as those who have seen the statue and the show will agree.

In the sleeping Sphinxes at its base represent the past, and a feminine figure with wings for arms represents the present and the future.

At the Orpheum, Harry E. Cornell, principal contender for the title of "missing link," unquestionably the greatest vaudeville extant, so many human as to vindicate Darwin, with a bump of humor protruding like an Adam's apple from the skull.

After you see him in his field with the drummer you will admit that he is worthy to be accredited as belonging to the tribe that produced the race.

After the past week, the past, the far-gone past, for it is a fearfully long way from Tarzan, clever as he is, to the present as typified by any of the dozen girls of the Morgan Dancers, any one of whom would be a worthy model for Partisan's beautiful figure. And while the artistic figure is in the center, responsive to only the imagination, the Orpheum figures leap through the measure of the dance with divine grace.

It has a thrill you with young life at full flood, it may have been unconsciously done, this grouping at the Orpheum of the past and the present, with its suggestion of the future, but it is there and it out-Partisians Partigan.

Critics have made the Farthings and art lovers have made pilgrimages to stand before it. And because that is true, lovers of art's true exposition in the real should find the Orpheum this week.

After this there is lacking space to describe the Morgan Dancers' wonderful performance, except to say that it attains the pinnacle of art.

Just as great in its own way is the sketch "The Actress and the Critic," with Constance Crawford, Arthur Maude and Lamar Johnston. It may not so appeal to you, but it would be difficult to argue out of rank as the finest thing in sketch writing ever seen in vaudeville.

Taking a backward glance over the list of New York plays that the Crane Wilbur crowd have staged during the last three months at the Macdonough theater, a cool and impartial critic, after giving the George M. Cohan play, "The House of Glass," a glowing review, can only himself as correct in saying that in this New Cohan play the Crane Wilbur boys have done a better job than twelve.

It will be hard to beat the record that they made yesterday at the Macdonough in this "House of Glass" affair. For fine, clean-cut acting, unguessed at, and a powerful and tense dramatic situation, involving comedy that brings a gale of laughter, and the sense of looking at a live drum that you run over in the next breath, you are looking at "The House of Glass." That is what this writer did, and counted himself a winner right afterward.

There is no use talking—George M. Cohan is the big Buddha of American playwriting, and the crowd seems to know it. You could tell as you looked at the audience in the Macdonough theater yesterday that the folks out in front knew something extra was on the menu card, like a chicken and ice cream dinner on Sunday in a two-by-four boarding house.

Everything came out just about as people could expect, and the entertainment—meaning that a delicious, savory dish was dealt out over the footlights—was perfect.

How in the world George M. Cohan contrives in every new play that he produces to have a big punch, and how he does it, is a matter of mystery to the casual observer, and how he blends laughs and tears so smoothly that it is like a perfectly blended salad dressing—that is the secret when you look at a new George M. Cohan play, and if "The House of Glass" is not a typical example of a dead-on-the-target will engage to the orchestra.

Crane Wilbur steps rather modestly to the side in "The House of Glass" and makes way for the new play. His new leading lady, and incidentally gives James Gleason and Will Lloyd a clear course for a burst of speed right at the center of the track. It is necessary to add that these two rising young actors dash under the wire, neck and neck, until the judges say that it is a dead heat. No, it is not necessary. You all know that that is about what occurred.

And, as for Miss Ann O'Day, boys and girls, there is a little blonde lady who knows how to act. Why, oh, why has she not been imported before for the decoration of Oakland theater stages? You must again hand it to Wilbur for his taste in choosing leading ladies. He will get many a congratulatory letter, no doubt, for Miss Ann O'Day.

"The House of Glass." The little lady fits in "The House of Glass" like a bunch of orchids on the bosom of a young man. Miss Ann O'Day will do. She has looks. She has class. She can act. She can "emote" and she can make one of the pictures of herself on the stage you ever saw.

John Ivan plays a subdued role as the husband of the leading lady and plays it mighty well, for Ivan is that kind of an actor.

Lucile Webster reveals in a character bit—a gossip old boarding-house keeper—the "house of glass" where she is a leader, as usual, an appeal and wholesome figure of a man. Richard Ryan, Elbert Horner, George Pratt and others of the Crane Wilbur players help to make "The House of Glass" fine entertainment.—R. S.

FRED FULTON

AT PANTAGES

Fred Fulton, the heavyweight, who is to fight Jess Willard on July 4, will give the Oakland fight fans a chance to look him over and form their own conclusions as to his prospects of walking away with the heavyweight title when he opens a four-day engagement at Pantages Sunday afternoon. Owing to previous booking engagements Fulton will only be seen until and including Wednesday evening. He will be seen in his training routine so as to give the fans the opportunity of watching him work. He opens his stunt with an exhibition of rope jumping, then he does some shadow boxing, which he follows with demonstrations of various punches and the act is concluded with a three-round sparring bout with his sparring partner.

Fans should take notice that the Fulton engagement ends Wednesday evening.

"BLUE BIRD" AT KINEMA ALL WEEK

No one can tell in words of the thrill that comes to the heart as the true meaning of "The Blue Bird" Masterpiece is shown at the Kinema, today and all this week, one can only say that the wonderful charm and fascination that this quest for real happiness has for us excepting that it answers that which is paramount in our own hearts day in and day out.

Here is a wonderful psychological study that appeals to the student who has puzzled into life's deepest mysteries, to the thinker and reader, to the love-lorn maid and to the child who loves fairy tales.

If Religion does nothing else in gratitude to the world for what they are doing for her, she has given it a poet, with a message that will live for all times.

As for the picture it has been produced with the same magnificence and radiant beauty will prove a boon to all during these dark days of hate and distress.

The rest of the program includes a Paramount Pictograph, official news of the States war film and the very latest News Weekly.

MANY FLOCK TO IDORA PARK

Every day is fun day at Idora Park. And yesterday fifteen thousand bay city folk—men, women and children—poured through the gates of the twenty-acre playground.

They swarmed down to the inland beach and pool, where they witnessed Gus Johansen do thrilling high and fancy dives and saw America's swiftest mortals—Charlotte Doyle, Claire Gilman and Dorothy Burns—race in the 100-yard backstroke championship. Others took to the pool for the cooling waters, while others enjoyed the shade of the palms and giant colored parasols that border the beach.

Free dancing every night except Sunday is provided, a most diversion at Idora. Another innovation is the teaching of roller skating free to beginners every evening except Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Take Your Medicines

Regularly This Spring—Hood's Sarsaparilla Before Meals—Pepsin After.

This combination is having wonderful success everywhere.

It is relieving rheumatism, expelling humors, restoring lost appetite, giving the glow of health to the cheeks, making faces bright and complexions clear, and literally giving worn-out brain-fagged people new ambition and the strength of iron.

For it combines that most useful of all metals—iron—in a course of medicine that is peculiarly effective.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is made from an unsurpassed formula of blood-purifying and stomach-toning remedies, and Pepsin from pepsin, iron, nux and other blood and stomach tonics that Christians have used for centuries.

In cases where a cathartic is needed Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pepsin are very effectively supplemented by Hood's Pills, relieving biliousness, constipation and all liver ills.—Advertisement.

MRS. KNOX TO MEET PIONEER PRINTER

RULERS OF SPAIN CALLED BY DEATH

During the dangers of a long ocean voyage and the perils of the submarine that with her little son she might join her husband in his hazardous work in war torn Europe, Mrs. Newton B. Knox is receiving her reward in an invitation to be presented at the Spanish court. Of all the courts in the world, that of Spain seems least disturbed with functions of state proceeding with all the elaborateness and exclusiveness of former times. The honor of being introduced on one of the auspicious occasions of the season has been offered the former Berkeley girl who as Miss Mary Blossom was one of the most popular women graduates of the University of California.

Since her marriage Mrs. Knox has resided for the most part abroad where her husband is prominently known and greatly sought after as one of the brilliant engineers on the continent. After the nations of Europe had begun the warfare, Mrs. Knox returned to the United States with her little son to remain with her mother, Mrs. Caroline Blossom in Berkeley until peace should come. After the entrance of the United States into the world strife she found it difficult to obtain passports. From time to time her anticipated departure was delayed. Last winter Mrs. Knox was a notable figure in smart society in San Francisco and Burlington and gave so much of the most elaborate of the season's entertainments. She was widely feted.

Late in the winter Mrs. Knox obtained passage on a steamer touching a Spanish port. She is most picturesquely established in Nova where she is a leader among the English speaking people. Later she hopes to be able to go over into France to join her husband. Through the spring she has had as her house guest the Duchess of Frias, a brilliant woman of Paris and Madrid.

CONCRETE SHIP FAITH PROVES BACKERS' FAITH

Another indication that the concrete ship will prove a successful answer to the submarine menace is now in the hands of shipping experts, as the result of the remarkable speed tests passed by the Faith, the new concrete ship recently launched at Redwood City and the largest vessel of this type afloat. The Faith averaged more than 11 knots an hour over the course off California City, exceeding all expectations. Vibration was pronounced practically nil, and experts say, if she holds up on her coming trip across the Pacific as well as she did during the trouts there can be no doubt that the concrete ship has "arrived."

J. J. Tynan, general manager of the Bethlehem Steel interests on the Pacific Coast, was on the trout trip and was frankly enthusiastic. He declared that the performance was in every way a record achievement. John K. Butler, federal shipbuilding inspector for this district, also expressed faith that the new type of vessel will prove a brilliant success.

"OH, BOY!" AT AUDITORIUM

Doing twelve decidedly new and difficult dancing steps and the teaching of a chorus to do the same, falls to the credit of Joseph Santley, the star of "Oh, Boy," the fourth and most successful of the New York Princess Theater musical comedies which will play an engagement under the management of Messrs. Comstock and Elliott, May 16, 17, 18 and 19 at the Auditorium Theater.

In the song, "The Kind of Man I'd Like to Be," it was necessary for Joseph Santley to figure out his own dance and to teach the chorus the same steps. This may sound very easy, and ordinarily it would be easy, but when "Oh, Boy" comes here and you see the dance you will readily understand the task Mr. Santley set before himself. How well he has succeeded is attested by thousands of admirers who watched him for the almost seven months at the La Salle Theater, Chicago, where "Oh, Boy," played to capacity business.

"The Kind of Man I'd Like to Be" is

WOOD WOULD DROP GERMAN FROM SCHOOLS

Approving in every detail the action taken by the Board of Education in eliminating the teaching of German from the public school courses of Oakland, State Commissioner Will C. Wood of Secondary Education has announced that he will ask for the complete discontinuance of German in all the schools of California after July 1. Wood left Oakland this morning after hearing in detail of the dismissal of pro-German teachers here and inspecting Superintendent Fred Hunter's report banishing German from the local schools.

Wood declares that much of the dangerous German propaganda in America has been spread through the teaching of the German language in the schools, asserting that, three years ago, it was even attempted to induce him to place text books published in Berlin in the schools as official.

200 SCHOOLS AFFECTED.

Two hundred high schools in the State would be affected by an order banishing German courses. One-fourth of these have already dropped the course. Wood says that after the war the study of German could come up again for consideration.

"The study of German," said Wood, "has been abused in a despicable way and there is sinister evidence of German propaganda to keep alive a hatred of England and admiration of all things German through the text books. We propose to review all texts that have this taint."

The deletion of objectionable matter already has been taken up, says Wood, and books now on the list of the Board of Education, to which objection has been made, no longer contain this German propaganda.

BOOKS DELETED.

It is by this action and through a misunderstanding of it that the situation in San Francisco, where books used to be on the list of the board and in use by the schools there, has arisen. The books in question were purchased by the San Francisco schools before the question of German propaganda arose. They have the same titles as the new books, but the latter are deleted of the objectionable German propaganda.

"The board is not defending itself, for there is no attack upon it," says Wood. "We already have said and the books we are recommending are not the books used in San Francisco, although they have the same name. We contracted for them with the publishers with the understanding that all German propaganda which we pointed out in every particular be eliminated."

In regard to the situation, Wood issued the following statement:

INSIDIOUS TEXT.

"German propagandists have used the teaching of German as a medium for propaganda so insidiously that it is almost impossible to eliminate all pro-German matter. In view of this fact, I shall recommend that the study of German be dropped at least for the period of the war. The high school principals of the State have already gone on record as favoring this policy. The State board is now investigating textbooks in European history with a view to eliminating German propaganda. It is alleged that some texts excuse German perfidy in former wars and extol German achievements un-

Schooner Puts Into Port Short of Food

SAN FRANCISCO, May 6.—The 300-ton schooner Lizzie Vance has put into a Pacific port short of food, according to a cablegram received today by the marine department of the Chamber of Commerce. The Lizzie Vance, owned by Henry Gray & Co. of San Francisco, sailed from a South Seas port on March 11.

If the charges are proved, the vessel must be sold and the crew sent home. The cablegram states that the vessel is short of food and that the crew is suffering from lack of food. The cablegram also states that the vessel is short of fuel and that the crew is suffering from lack of fuel.

St. Leo's Parish Does Honor to Fifty in Service

Stirring patriotic utterances, fine music and ceremonial observances marked the special war service at St. Leo's church in Piedmont yesterday noon, when honor was paid fifty members of the parish in active service of the United States, and three others who have given their lives for their country.

The services were under direction of Rev. Father Owen Lacey, pastor of the church, and Father Boyle, his assistant. Beginning with a high mass, the services lasted more than an hour, ending with the blessing of the American flag and the raising of the colors on the parish flagpole by tiny Emily Dodge, daughter of one of the members of the church. The church itself was specially decorated, in honor of the event, the altar being banked to the chancel rail with a mass of flowers and flags.

The main program was held in the parish house adjoining and the parochial gardens. The flag raising ceremony took place in the garden. Special music was furnished by the young women's sodality choir. Hubert Quinn delivered the oration of the day. H. C. Brown acted as master of ceremonies.

The program included an orchestral selection, a solo, "The Red, White and Blue," Miss Delia McDonough, recitation of patriotic watchwords from President Wilson's speeches by J. Francis Coakley of St. Mary's College, tenor solo, Father Boyle; oration, Hubert Quinn; ceremony of the blessing of the American flag by Rev. Father Owen Lacey; raising of the flag, Emily Dodge; singing of "The Star-Spangled Banner" by the audience and choir.

Police Are Reviewed by Mayor and Chief

More than two hundred policemen, garbed in their summer uniforms of tan, paraded in Lakeside park yesterday afternoon on the occasion of the semi-annual review of the department by Commissioner F. F. Jackson, Mayor Davis and Chief of Police Neiderman. The review of spectators were present at the review and for the Sunday afternoon band concert. The Firemen's band led the parade.

After the review the men marched back to the city hall, where they assembled in the council chambers to hear from their superiors. Commissioner Jackson, the Mayor and Chief Neiderman. The chief urged the men to take advantage of the opportunity for advancement in the department through hard study and civil service examinations which will soon be held.

Announce Candidacy for Assemblyman

Louis J. Angeli, a son of G. Angeli, a merchant who was a candidate for city commissioner several years ago, today announced that he will seek the nomination for the office of assemblyman in the Thirtieth District. Young Angeli was born in Oakland and has lived here all his life. Having been educated in the Oakland schools, he is a man of family. Angeli promises to make an active campaign for the nomination.

Grant I. Taggart has announced his candidacy for Assemblyman from the Thirtieth district. He was formerly county clerk of Shasta county—for three terms, clerk of the supreme court, and was elected to the legislature from Oakland in 1912.

Auto 'Kicks' Policeman, Suffers Broken Arm

Another accident was added to the already extensive list of injuries to members of the police department recently when Inspector Thomas Wood received a broken right arm through an attempt to crank a small automobile in the police garage yesterday. Last Thursday, Motor Vehicle Officer U. K. Peterson received a broken leg and several other officers are off duty from injuries.

MOUNTAINEER CLUBS AT TOP OF TAMALPAIS

More than a thousand men and women took the trail early today from Mill Valley in a mile-long single-file column up the slopes of Tamalpais, Marin county's famous mountain. The occasion was the annual meeting of the Tamalpais Conservation Club, organized six years ago to act in conjunction with municipal water companies to maintain the mountain as a public park for the people of the bay cities.

The meeting was held at the site of the lodge to be erected at Indian Snake Camp, a little way beyond West Point. Fred R. Parker was elected president for the coming year, and R. P. O'Rourke, vice president. The men standing bareheaded, the women's bright costumes splashing with color the green of the mountain, the hikers made the canyons reverberate to their singing of The Star Spangled Banner.

TELL OF CLUB ORIGIN.

Addresses were made descriptive of the formation of the club to preserve the mountain to the "Hiker" when carelessness and thoughtlessness had almost caused the closing of its trails by water companies. The hikers were taught sanitation, the disposal of luncheon rubbish, and fire precaution. For two years there has been no fire in the dense manzanita brush or in the undergrowth of the redwood forests.

Trails have been built along slopes, and the 2,500-foot peak made easily accessible by a dozen routes.

SIERRA CLUB JOINS.

Participating in today's meeting the Sierra Club, with a membership of 1,951, with headquarters in San Francisco and Los Angeles; the California Alpine Club, with 350 members; the Alpine Camera Club, with 300 enthusiasts, and many smaller organizations. Some of these clubs have trips scheduled for every Sunday in the year, the majority of them on Tamalpais' steep sides. The women are as eager as the men to enjoy the rainy days of winter months. The walks are from twelve to twenty miles long.

Belgian Poet Maeterlinck's Philosophy of Happiness Comes As Relief in These Days When All Are at a High Tension

"The Blue Bird" Is One of the Most Perfect Pictures Ever Produced; It Is Highly Entertaining to Young as Well as Adults, but the Maturer Minds Are Certain to Appreciate the Ideals of the Great Belgian Poet, Although So Simply Presented, at the Kinema Today and All This Week.

At the Kinema today and all this week is being presented Maeterlinck's beautiful ideal and philosophy of life in the cinema production of his widely studied work, "The Blue Bird." This story has had a wide appeal to all peoples of all ages and walks in life, and now has been made into a film which marks another step forward in the evolution of the photodrama from the "movie" of five years ago. To children, it will seem a beautiful story, simply told, but to more mature minds, it may be the means of awakening them to the happiness which is their due.

As a prelude to Maeterlinck's play, the Misses Helen and Thelma Morgan interpret with a clever singing and dancing act the spirit of "The Blue Bird." These two talented little girls are making their debut before hundreds of their local friends and many new admirers at the Kinema all this week. # Yellow Cab Service

"The Cab That Took Tax Out of Taxi"

THE BAY CITIES TODAY have something new. A fleet of yellow taxi-cabs is carrying their citizens wherever they want to go. Carrying them at a price hitherto unheard of in the West.

THE CARS ARE YELLOW so that they can be easily identified. They carry on their door panels an insignia that will at all times establish their identity.

The COLOR AND MONOGRAM insure courtesy, safety, service and economy. Only responsible married men, trained by ourselves, are employed as drivers. Special care is taken to keep the cabs clean and sanitary.

EUROPEAN COUNTRIES have been envied for their efficient taxi-cab service with its moderate cost. The Yellow Cab Service brings to the Bay Cities the same luxurious privilege with cabs that are built for comfort first of all.

YOU WILL FIND the Yellow Cabs on stands and at the principal hotels. A yellow cab is as near you as your telephone.

THE PRICE will be 25c for the first third of a mile, and 5c per sixth-mile thereafter. Additional passengers 15c each for the length of trip. Hour rate $2.50.

Date of incorporation of the E. L. Hutchings, Inc., operating the YELLOW CAB SERVICE and the BLACK AND WHITE CAB SERVICE—April, 1918, in Oakland.

Red Blood—The Fountain of Vital Force

The higher you go up the ladder of life, the greater is your need of red blood and the vital force that springs from it. If your blood has become thin and poor, try a course of Gude's Pepto-Mangan.

Think what it means to have vital force. Vital force is the spirit in man which cuts clearings in the wilderness of life and carves footholds in what weaker men call the impassable barriers to success. Our wonderful, complex civilization has been built by man's vital force. And vital force is indispensable to the success and happiness of every man, woman, and child.

Vital force has its origin in the blood—the stream of life. The red blood cells carry and distribute oxygen—the breath of life—to every cell and tissue of the body. However, when the blood becomes impoverished, the red blood cells diminish in number and capacity to do work. Then there is lacking the vital force which enables red-blooded men and women to carry the world on their shoulders.

If you are deficient in vital force, let Gude's Pepto-Mangan and Nature's great curative agents, diet, air, sleep, and exercise, build up the red blood cells to normal number and oxygen-carrying capacity.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan

"The Red Blood Builder"

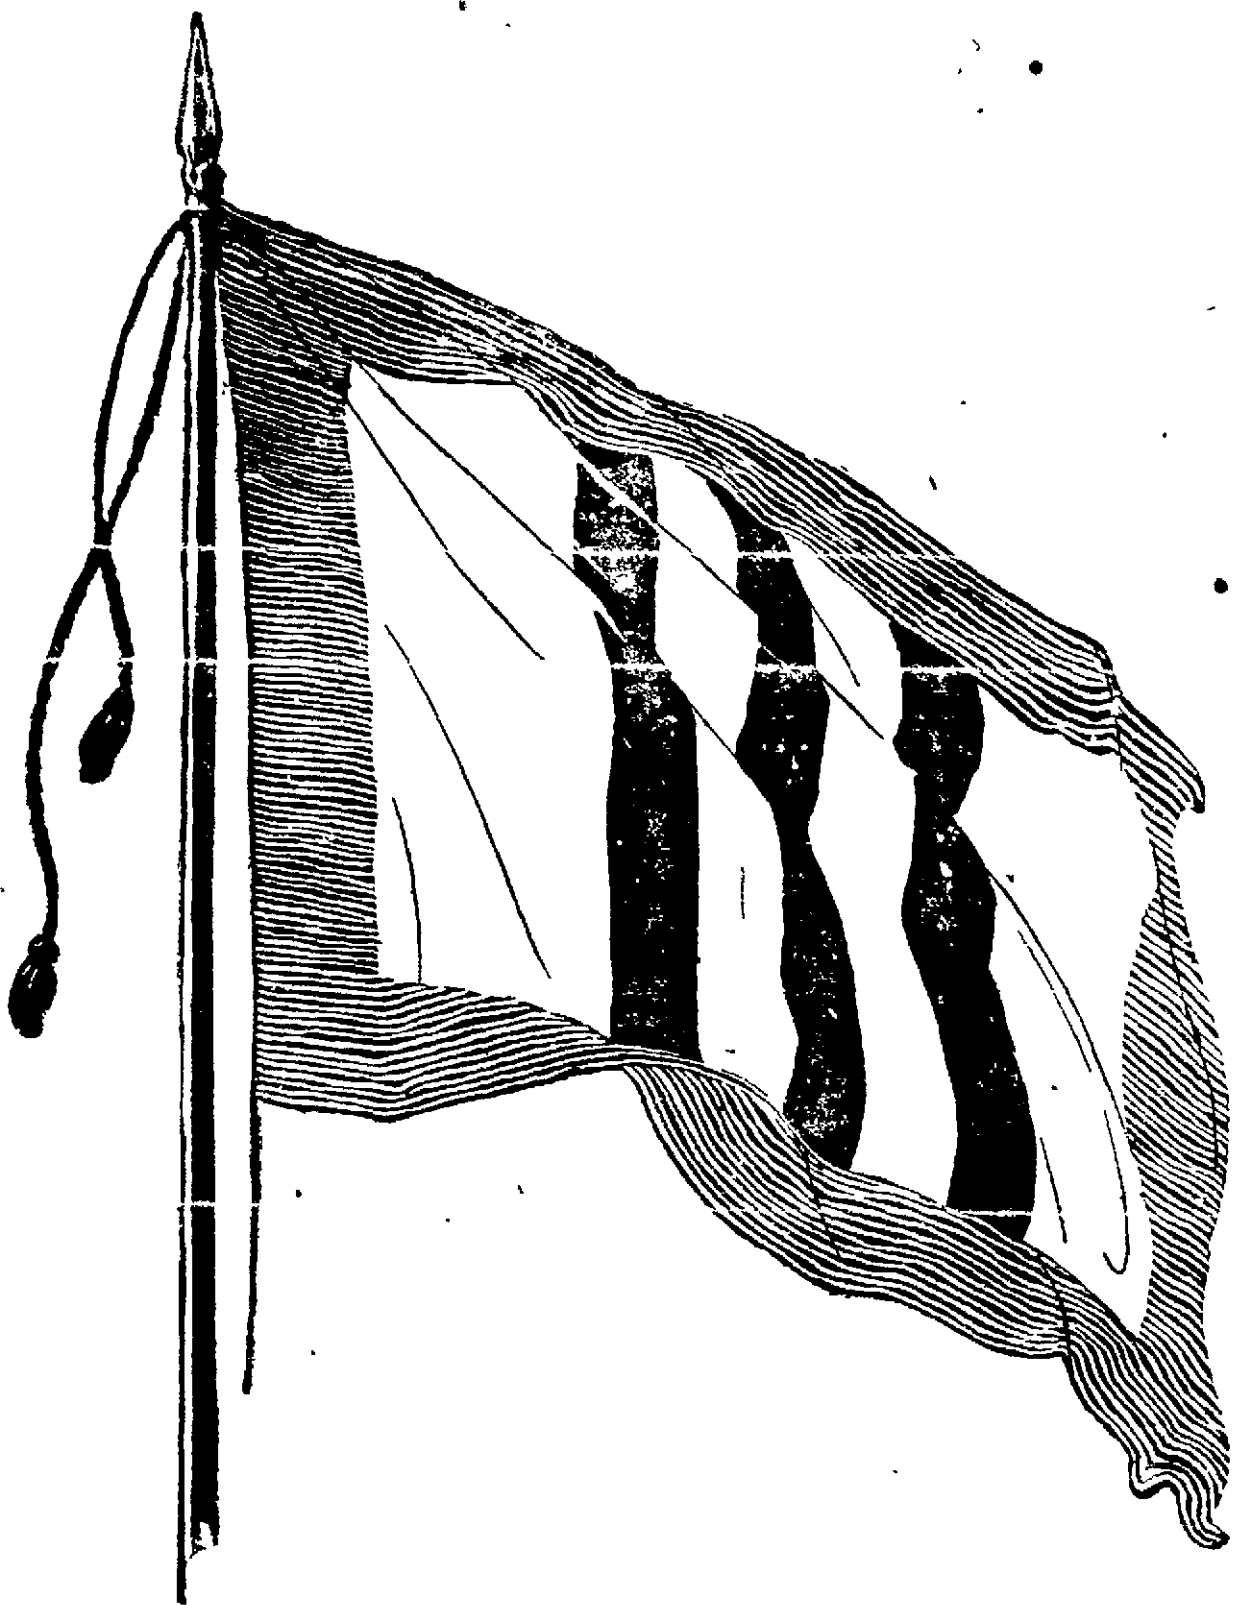

Gude's Pepto-Mangan is not a temporary tonic, but a scientifically prepared blood builder which supplies the red blood cells with the elements they need. It has been used and prescribed by the medical profession for over 25 years because it is absolutely safe and beneficial for invalids, convalescents, and run-down people of all ages and conditions. It is a splendid general tonic and appetizer, exceedingly pleasant to taste, easy to digest, and promptly assimilated by the blood.

FRIENDLY WARNING: There are many imitations of Pepto-Mangan on the market, but you can be sure of getting the genuine if it bears the name "Gude" and is put up in the bottle and sealed package as pictured here. Ask for it by its full name—Gude's Pepto-Mangan. For sale at all drug stores.

Pepto-Mangan is made only by M. J. BREITENBACH CO., Manufacturing Chemists, New York

Study this picture so you will know how genuine Pepto-Mangan looks.

An "Over the Top" Message to the People of Alameda County--

You've Gone More Than $2,000,000 Over

EVERY city in Alameda County has exceeded its allotment!

Niles and Emeryville have doubled their quota!

Oakland will have a surplus of over a million dollars!

Berkeley will win out by over $600,000, and Alameda is already to the good more than $200,000 with strong possibilities of reaching $300,000.

The County of Alameda is now ahead over $2,000,000 and when all figures are in, the county surplus should reach two million five hundred thousand dollars.

During the last campaign we received 21,138 subscriptions; in this campaign we received at the banks at least 85,000 subscriptions.

Bonds have been bought by rich and poor, by those of every nationality, creed and occupation, by parents for their children, by attorneys for their clients, by labor men and labor unions, by fraternal organizations, business firms, in fact, by practically every real American in our county. Never in the history of this county has there been such general and generous response from the people.

The Committee claims no further credit than the honor of being citizens of Alameda County, a county that not only went over the top in a substantial manner with a wide distribution of bonds (which was the first wish of our Government), but the county, that the records will prove, stands second to none in the State in per capita distribution of Liberty Bonds of this third issue.

This great campaign has proven that Alameda County properly canvassed can be depended upon to do her part and more for any patriotic call from Uncle Sam from now on to the end of the war.

Nurses Hold Meeting In Cleveland, O.

CLEVELAND May 6.—There are 16,000 American nurses serving abroad, and reports of their experiences will be emphasized at the convention of the American Nurses' Association which opened here today. The convention will continue here through Tuesday. One of the organizations is the National League of Nursing Education and the National Organization for Health Nursing.

The program includes a paper by Miss Grace Allison, of Cleveland, one of the first nurses to see service abroad.

One session will be devoted to a symposium on "Speaking English in the Foreign Field," with speakers including Miss Sophia Kiel, Russia; and Miss Helen Scott Hay, Bulgaria.

CHICAGO, May 6.—"Ned" Egan, manager of the Milwaukee baseball club of the American Association, was found shot dead with a pistol at his side in a downtown hotel late last night.

THE G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT.

Oakland will be host this week to the annual State encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic. Veterans will be present in great force from all parts of California and Nevada. The fact that the nation now is earnestly at war lends a peculiar and special interest to this meeting of the survivors of a conflict for the preservation of the Union of nearly sixty years ago. Visitors also will be on hand from other States and will include the national commander of the G. A. R.

The citizens of Oakland will extend a hearty welcome to the men and women of the Grand Army. They will do everything possible to make this encampment one of the most enjoyable ever held. To this object THE TRIBUNE joins its efforts most heartily and earnestly. There is a deep sense of gratitude for the opportunity to the people of Oakland to meet in these days the civil war veterans.

Their presence will be a stirring reminder of the trials of other days; of the sacrifice other men and other generations made to bequeath to the citizens of today the heritage of freemen, and a free and independent nation strong and virile enough to defend itself against a terrible power of autocratic might working under a policy of murder, arson, pillage and rapine.

The sight of the venerable survivors of a war to abolish slavery will be an inspiration to the young men and women of this community to give a larger measure of patriotism to their country's cause. It will reveal to their minds that we live not alone for ourselves but for the children of the future as well. It will be a manifestation of the continuity of the national life through the performance of duty by men and women of the nation.

Hence the men of the G. A. R. will bring to Oakland this week a gift of great value, the ennobling pageantry of history that awakens the gratitude of the youth of today for the deeds of our ancestors and fortifies the determination to be worthy of the glorious history of the Republic.

Welcome, men of the Grand Army of the Republic, from hearts filled with gratitude and appreciation!

THE AIRCRAFT SCANDAL.

Demand for an investigation of the Aircraft Board has been voiced by a dozen members of the United States Senate and the committee on military affairs of that body is certain to delve into this branch of war work. It is high time something was done.

One month ago attention was called to the fact that allegations of mismanagement and evidence of practically complete failure of the aircraft production business had been placed before the President and the Secretary of War. The evidence was indisputable, for out of all the mass of controversial matters stood the cold, barren fact that airplanes had not been produced to fight the enemy with over the battlelines in France when battleplanes by the thousands had been promised and money appropriated to produce them.

The Tribune then urged that the government adopt a policy of utmost frankness with the people, who wanted to know the exact status of the aircraft situation. No information has yet been vouchsafed by the government. The report of Mr. Gutzon Borglum, whom the President appointed to make an investigation of the aircraft situation, has been withheld from publication. A commission of three men was named, subsequently to the appointment of Mr. Borglum, to investigate. The findings of this board have been given out, but the statement of one of its members, Mr. Gavin McNab of San Francisco, leads inevitably to the conclusion that it will be calculated to minimize conditions and to continue the assurances uttered for public consumption and typified by Secretary of War Baker's statement last February that a substantial shipment of battleplanes had been sent to Europe, when, as sworn testimony a month later showed, only one airplane had been shipped.

It is the inescapable duty of Congress to go to the bottom of this matter. The people will not be discouraged by any revelations of failures and criminal neglect of duty. And they will be greatly heartened if the men guilty of the fiasco in aircraft are brought to trial before the court of public opinion and, if appropriate, in the criminal courts of the country.

President Wilson has already taken steps to insure efficient handling of aircraft production henceforth. Mr. John D. Ryan has been put at the head of the aircraft board and responsibility for failure or success will be plainly exposed to public view in the future. But the men responsible for the campaign of deception and the crime of failure during the first year of the war should be punished. It does not suffice merely to demote the head of the army signal corps. No thinking citizen will believe that General Squier, one of the ablest officers in the army, was solely to blame.

NATIONAL FINANCIAL POWER.

Unqualified success marked the month's campaign of selling bonds of the third United States Liberty Loan. It was successful in that the subscriptions were approximately thirty percent more than the minimum amount required; that practically every community in the country took up its quota promptly, with evidence of a handsome reserve force of enthusiasm and money at the end of the campaign to do even more than it had done, and that more individuals bought government bonds than in any other loan issue of any nation.

The exact amount of the subscriptions will not be known for several days, but official figures up to Friday and reliable estimates for the last two days of the week indicate that the bond purchases will total about $4,000,000,000, distributed among approximately 17,000,000 men, women and children. Let it be assumed that four billion is the total; the difference between that and the exact amount will not be important one way or the other. Then some idea may be obtained as to what the country has done in a financial way within ten short, strenuous months.

Total subscriptions of the first Liberty Loan, June 1917, were $3,035,226,850, an over subscription of $1,035,226,850, or nearly fifty-two percent. There were 4,000,000 subscribers. Two billion dollars of subscriptions were accepted.

Subscriptions to the second Liberty Loan of $3,000,000,000 totaled $4,617,332,300, an excess of fifty-four percent. The purchasers numbered 9,400,000. Half the over-subscriptions of the second loan were accepted, which made the amount of that issue $3,808,766,150.

The record of popular financial credits for the government therefore may be written something like this:

First Liberty Loan, June, 1917.....$2,000,000,000
Second Liberty Loan, October, 1917. 3,808,766,150
Third Liberty Loan, April, 1918..... 4,000,000,000

Total for ten months.....$9,808,766,150

This represents a per capita loaning performance of $100 for every man, woman and child in the country. But it is not all. There was offered the government, but not accepted, $1,035,226,850 additional in June and $808,766,150 additional in October—a total of $1,843,993,000, or over $18 per capita. Thus the government was offered in ten months $118 for every citizen of the nation.

But this is not by any means a true index of what the country can do. The first loan was not efficiently advertised and the people were not awake to the significance of the war and the duty of financial support for the government. The second loan was more widely distributed, but failed to reach many classes of potential buyers, notably the rural population. In the third loan five billions could have easily been raised had the government asked for that amount at the beginning.

There is still another important factor in the last year of national financing—federal revenues by taxation. These comprise the following items: To be raised under the ordinary revenue bill (customs, internal revenue, etc.), $1,333,500,000; under extraordinary war revenue act (mainly from extra income, excess profits and estate taxes), $2,534,870,000; and from post office receipts, $325,000,000. This is a total of $4,193,370,000. The above figures of revenue are estimates made by the government early in the fiscal year. Instead of the two and a half billion dollars expected under the special war revenue act, it is now indicated that the actual amount will be nearer four billions; and the total receipts from taxation about six billions. But taking the government's old estimate as correct the record on June 30th will be:

Loan subscriptions ..... $ 9,808,766,150
Federal taxes paid ..... 4,193,370,000

Total ..... $14,002,136,150

This amazing performance of the American people in placing fourteen billion dollars of credit behind the government in less than a year has not stifled the business and industrial resources of the country. On the contrary prosperity, measured by all the familiar standards, never was so marked or obvious. The financial capacity of the country has been increased instead of diminished. And so long as the money is spent in this country, as it is being and will be spent, that capacity will continue to expand.

There is absolutely no danger of losing the war or delaying victory through lack of financial resources.

The Socialist press of Germany has pointed out that things have come to such a pass that children, unless their parents are "Hohenzollern to the core and pan-German in politics," are to be allowed to starve. This observation is provoked by the announcement of the Prussian military dictators that this year they will extend no hospitality to underfed town children of districts wherein munitions strikes occurred last January.

NOTES and COMMENT

The Hun justification for shelling hospital ships is that American aviators take passage on them. It has to be an intricate piece of savagery, indeed, that the Hun cannot justify.

If some of the indigenous cooks who achieve the palatable Southern corn pone were brought here and given a chance it would greatly popularize the effort to save wheat for consumption over there.

The Redding Searchlight meets with a surprise: "It is announced that there is no shortage in wool. So many people are wearing it over their eyes that we are surprised to hear this."

It seems that the country finds it possible to speed up on water craft, having been launched in a year. There ought to have been some headway in airships, one would say from this.

Disturbing stories reach this country of ill-treatment of American prisoners by the Huns. They have not been entirely substantiated, but if they should be, a remedy will be difficult. It is one of the exigencies of war when one contestant is pre-disposed to savagery.

The District of Columbia is dry, but the attempt to make it bone dry has failed, so far as the report of the House committee is concerned. One of California's Congressmen headed the effort. The district is exempt from that provision of the law which prohibits the shipment of liquor into dry territory, and it was sought to remove this exemption.

Allied intervention in Russia is said to be very near. Apparently the embarrassment has been to determine what division of the Russian people to intervene for. They are not well differentiated, and are as yet busy intervening with one another.

An American has been sentenced to imprisonment for mixing in the troubles of the British domain. Any American inclined to mix that way ought to find sufficient fighting in behalf of his own country just at this time.

The Submarine Wireless Company of New York was principally owned by titled Germans and Austrians, which at once suggests that it was something more than an investment. But it is not even that now, having been taken in charge by the federal government.

Publishing a list of delinquent Liberty Loan subscribers may be considered as rather overt, but it is to be remembered that they put their names down with some object in view, and if it was not for the patriotic purpose that was assumed, it was for a sale and all trading at this juncture is unsafe.

What we sometimes designate as "United States" language is good enough for the Illinois Athletic club, which has placed the "verboten" sign on the German language within its precincts. Until this war is over wherever that language is heard extensively it is likely to invite inhibition, if not trouble.

The Times carefully explains that there was no riot: "Technically no riots occurred in a certain Pleasanton home last week, for, according to the law, it takes at least three people to make a riot. Two people beating thunder out of each other do not constitute a riot in the eyes of the law."

News from the firing line via the Red Bluff News: "Hindenburg is exhausted and getting his breath in short pants. A foreshadowing of the day when the general will retire across the Rhine without any pants at all."

The Searchlight takes account of the power of habit: "Keddling's city trustees had a Devo dinner in Red Bluff, and really enjoyed it, showing that you can get used to anything."

SPIRIT OF THE STATE PRESS

Thousands of acres of barley are now ripening in the field. Soon the mower and the thrasher will be singing their song of prosperity for the farmer.—Holtville Tribune.

It was hardly to be expected that the appointment of a Supervisor by California's war Governor would be pleasing to the Kern county bosses, and, in their announcement of it to their readers, the spleen was too plain to be overlooked. There may be a great many more flies in the old machine's ointment before it is another year older.—Bakersfield Echo.

Yesterday a couple of politicians who are members of the "Sunshine club" were discussing Judge Deasly's article in the morning's Mercury Herald as to why Miss Smith should be elected to the city council. Both agreed with the judge that one-half of our electors being women they should at least have one representative in the council. A son of Old Erin, who was listening intently broke in with the remark that he also thought that the women were entitled to a representative; and, if not, surely the Smiths were.—San Jose Mercury Herald.

The Oakland TRIBUNE says that agriculturists should think twice before deciding to let their land lie idle because not definitely assured of a profitable price for their products next fall, and it suggests that if on second thought they decide to cultivate their land the government should take it over and see to it that it does produce food. We do not believe that there is any need of THE TRIBUNE's worrying about this matter. If agriculturists have threatened to let their land lie idle it was merely a bluff. The fact is that prices for nearly all agricultural products are very high, and they are certain to go much higher. The agriculturist knows this and they are not going to miss the opportunity to profit by it.—San Andreas Prospect.

"HIS PLACE IN THE SUN"

THE GRIZZLY PASSED ON.

"While camped at 8500 feet altitude near the head of Fawn Creek in the Gallatin Range in the northwest part of the Yellowstone National Park," writes Vernon Bailey, Chief Field Naturalist of the U. S. Biological Survey in a book soon to be issued by the National Park Service, "I could make out with a field glass elk herds on the high ridges south, west, and north of camp. By climbing cautiously, so as not to disturb the elk, up to 10,000 feet on Quadrant Mountain south of camp I was soon in the midst of one of their choice summer ranges.

"Small herds and scattered individuals were seen over the big, open slopes above timber-line; bunches of old bulls with full-grown velvet horns lying on top of the ridges where the wind was strongest and insects least troublesome; calves and yearlings playing over great snow banks on the cold slopes; and cows peacefully lying in meadows of rich, short grass and clover. Little streams and pools of ice-cold water were everywhere and the elk were a picture of contentment and satisfaction with their ideal summer home.

"After watching them for about an hour a large grizzly bear that had been digging miles on a neighboring slope was seen walking across toward the elk. As he came in view their heads went up and the herds near me gathered into one dense mass of about 500, old and young, while the bear walked past close in front of

IN PRAISE OF HOOVER.

Mr. Hoover's administration has been attacked by critics of all kinds, animated by various motives, but in his speeches in this city he has not been found on the defensive. He has not found it necessary to adopt the role of the apologist. His administration has been impossible without the general cooperation of the people, expert, inspiring leadership such as he has furnished was also indispensable to the operation of the great plan.—Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegraph.

THE RETORT COURTEOUS.

"Press on!" was Secretary Baker's parting word to General Pershing and the American army in France. Is it less majestic to express the hope that General Pershing's reply was a polite "Same to you?"—New York Herald.

them and on over the ridge, scarcely turning his head to note that the herd was a beautiful sig. 25 or 30 old bulls with sets of large horns towering above the numerous small sets, while the front ranks were mainly filled with anxious cows ready to give battle for the protection of their young. When the bear had disappeared they quietly dispersed to their grazing and seemed very little concerned."

OAKLAND WELCOMES GRAND ARMY POSTS

THINNING RANKS ASSEMBLE UNDER OLD GLORY FOR ENCAMPMENT OF CALIFORNIA AND NEVADA

SESSIONS OPEN IN AUDITORIUM TUESDAY A. M.

Prominent women here for Grand Army Encampment. The center picture is that of MRS. BELLE INGRAM, department secretary of Ladies of G. A. R. The others are, left to right, MISS EDNA I. WADSWORTH of Los Angeles, department president Daughters of Veterans, and MISS ANNA B. DUNHAM of Lockport, New York, national president Daughters of Veterans.

From every city, village and farm, by steamer, automobile and special train, the delegates to the fifty-first annual encampment, Department of California and Nevada, of the Grand Army of the Republic, and its affiliated organizations, are pouring into Oakland today, ready for the opening session of what is predicted as the greatest assembly in its history. With the delegates of the parent organization are members of the Women's Relief Corps, Ladies of the G. A. R., the Sons of Veterans, the Daughters of Veterans, and the California and Pacific Division of the Sons of Veterans' Auxiliary, who will add the social and demonstrative phase of the meeting.

Local committee, directed by Captain W. R. Thomas, chairman, have arranged the preliminaries of the great meeting of the veterans of Civil War days, in conjunction with Orlando A. Somers, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, and Mrs. Lois M. Knauff, national president of the Women's Relief Corps. The headquarters of the parent convocation and its auxiliaries will be in the Hotel Oakland. The encampment session will be held in the Oakland Auditorium, with special features at the Greek Theater in Berkeley, the Oakland Technical high school and east bay amusement parks.

The proceedings of the encampment have been divided into two distinct channels. One will have to do with the business, routine and patriotic features of the assemblies which will last from this morning, which marks the official opening, of the convocation until Friday evening, May 10. The other will encompass the social programs, which are scattered over a wide gamut of activities and include receptions, banquets, a big parade through the downtown district, tableaux, community singing, balls and patriotic concerts. Every minute of the time that the visiting members of the various organizations are in the city is to be crowded to the brim with things to do.

MAYOR WELCOMES G. A. R.

The principal item of interest today is the arrival of delegates, the registration of various contingents and the greetings of Commander-in-Chief Orlando A. Somers by the reception committee. Other officers and prominent members of the various organizations will also be greeted by various committees and representatives of different local commercial and civic bodies. Formal welcome will also be extended by Mayor John L. Davis and city officials to the visiting delegates throughout the various sessions will be men in the now obsolete blue of Federal service, who fought shoulder to shoulder through the stirring Civil War period. Elbow to elbow with old men who preceded the Red Cross in its work of mercy on the battlefields of this country. The spirit of the meet will reflect the various elements of this assembly against the background of the great world war. And the keynote of patriotism which is the dominant motif of the encampment will express not only local but national regard for the "thinning line," many of whom will never meet again after this assembly.

The Women's Relief Corps will start the preliminary session of the day tomorrow with a reception at 7 o'clock in the morning to its national president, Lois M. Knauff, who arrives from the east on a special train.

SESSION OPENS TUESDAY

The main session of the encampment will begin tomorrow at 10 o'clock, when the council of administration meets at the Hotel Oakland. The session will be for council members primarily. The open encampment session will take place at 2 p. m., when committee reports, announcements and general routine will forecast the whirlwind sessions which are to cover a wide range of business in the three days in which the convention is to remain in session. Coincidentally with the meeting of the G. A. R., members will be sessions of the auxiliary organizations. The Women's Relief Corps will meet in its business sessions at the First Congregational church, Twelfth and Clay streets, and all the rest at the Hotel Oakland.

CANNERS LIE IS ANSWER OF OFFICIAL

Declaring that charges of pro-Germanism made against C. B. Heizer, inspector of the state pure food laboratory, have originated from canners of California who are violating the pure food laws, Professor E. J. Lea, head of the state laboratory at the University of California, today indignantly answered an attack made on his assistant last week at a meeting of representatives of prominent canners of the state held last week at the Palace hotel.

"In the first place, Heizer is not a pro-German," declared Lea, answering the attack for his assistant. "His family as far back as his great grandfather resided in Stanton, Va., and his ancestors have fought in all American wars."

Charge made by canners' representatives that Heizer, through his association with the state pure food laboratory, was ruining the reputation of California tomato producers and canners in the East were emphatically denied by Lea.

"The legitimate canner who lives up to the pure food regulations has nothing to fear," says Lea. "Out of a hundred or more canning associations in the state we have attacked only a dozen or so for using rotten tomatoes in their plants for the manufacture of tomato products."

"Mr. Heizer has not gone out of his way to interfere with legitimate business and the majority of the canners in the state have not been molested. If canners adhere to the pure food laws they have nothing to fear. If they use rotten tomatoes they will be prosecuted by us under laws laid down by the state of California, whose standards are the same as those of the federal government."

"Any man who declares that I have circulated literature throughout the East and that I have in any way, either verbally or written, attacked

OAKLAND BAKERS USE NO WHEAT BY NEW RECIPE

"Oakland is in line for the honor of making the first absolutely wheatless bread that is at the same time palatable and nutritious," Harmon Bell, food administrator of this city, said today in discussing the efforts of the food administration in all parts of the country to have bakers experiment in the making of "wheatless bread."

Food Administrator Bell announced that several Oakland bakers are at work on the problem and that a number of experiments made so far have come close to the ideal standard set by the food administration.

A wheatless loaf has been made by Drust B. Leidehald, chef at the Hotel Oakland, which is said to be of excellent quality. The chef is still experimenting and hopes to improve the quality of the loaf before he presents the final recipe to the food administration as his contribution to winning the war.

The tomato industry of California, is unqualifiedly a liar," declared Heizer this morning in a vehement denial of charges made against him.

Both Professor Lea and Heizer credit charges against the state pure food laboratory as being political in nature and declare that the attack originated with disgruntled canners who have been frustrated in using de-composed tomatoes in their products.

Charges made by tomato packers at their meeting in San Francisco last week are being investigated by United States Marshal James B. Holahan. The indignation meeting came as the result of a number of canning company heads being summoned before the State Board of Health, to whom charges made by Heizer and others connected with the laboratory in Berkeley that their tomatoes and other canned goods containing tomato solids and juices were "decomposed and putrid and not fit for human consumption."

Several canners charge that the alleged "pro-German" findings of Heizer has resulted in a severe blow to one of the state's most important industries.

RED CROSS WILL START BIG DRIVE

With one hundred Red Cross chapters in Northern California and Nevada represented, and three hundred delegates from all parts of the coast, including leading business and professional men and prominent war workers, present, tomorrow will see the start of plans to send the West "over the top" in the coming Red Cross drive, May 20 to May 27.

The nation must raise $100,000,000 in the big drive. The quota of the North Pacific Coast division is $3,730,000.

Famous speakers from Oakland, San Francisco and the State at large will be heard tomorrow when the division convention for the northern district opens in the Palace Hotel, San Francisco, with John B. Miller in the chair as division campaign manager. Speakers will include Marshall Hale of San Francisco, John A. Britton, Oakland and San Francisco; Governor Emmet D. Boyle of Nevada; William H. Crocker, treasurer of San Francisco; Edward L. Dooney, Pacific division war finance committeeman; Gurney H. Newlin, of Los Angeles; Lyman L. Pierce, national committeeman; Edward H. Brown, and Guy R. Kinsley, P. H. McCarthy, president of the San Francisco Building Trades' Council, will pledge labor's aid in the mammoth drive.

Certain-teed Roofing

The roof that copes with all conditions.

Sparks, smoke, gases, acids or fumes have no effect on a Certain-teed roof. Rust cannot corrode Certain-teed. The heat of the sun cannot cause it to melt or run. Certain-teed has the ability to resist every form of roofing attack, and the durability to give year after year of weather proof service, with little or no maintenance cost. Certain-teed offers every practical roofing advantage with a minimum roofing investment.

In every town, city and section you will find Certain-teed. Everywhere Certain-teed is chosen for buildings of all types and sizes—for factories, round houses, elevators, garages, warehouses, hotels, farm buildings, stores, outbuildings, etc. In artistic red or green shingles, Certain-teed is very popular for residences.

Guaranteed 5, 10 or 15 years, according to thickness. Certain-teed costs less than any other type of roof—first cost and laying cost low, and maintenance practically nothing. Certain-teed is more economical than ordinary roll roofing, because it costs no more to lay and lasts much longer.

Twelve-Inning Game Features Shipyard Play

Schick Breaks Up Tight Game for Hanlon Team; Moore Boys in Lead.

The games in the Shipyard baseball league yesterday afternoon failed to bring about any change in the positions of the four clubs in the league race, but they did furnish some great excitement for the fans that were out to view them.

The game played at the Emeryville grounds between the Hanlon shipyard and the Alameda Union Iron Works was a 12-inning affair, with the Hanlon team winning by a 4 to 3 victory for the Hanlon team after twelve innings of great baseball. And over at San Francisco, the Alameda Union Iron Works team defeated the San Francisco Union Iron Works team by a 4 to 3 victory for the Hanlon team after twelve innings of great baseball.

ALAMEDA UNION IMPROVES.

The Alameda Union Iron Works which battled the Hanlon team for twelve innings only to lose out looked to be a much better ball club than it has at any other time during the season. The team named Birbeck was in the box for Alameda, and he twirled a great game although 10 hits were scored by the Hanlon team. The Hanlon pitcher had to be yanked, with Howard Gregory going in for the eighth inning and holding the ironworkers runless for the rest of the game. Hanlon took a one run lead only to have it tied up in the second, and fall behind when Alameda scored two runs in the eighth and from then until the twelfth it was a pitchers battle between Gregory and Birbeck, with the leaders helping to prolong the game by making unusual catches with runners on base. Alameda's Gregory started to win his own game by singling to right, Hollander walked, Lane singled to fill the bases, and Schick drove over the winning run when he got his third hit of the game. It was a game that eclipsed the one of the Sunday afternoon game, and the attendance should begin to show a big increase.

MOORES GREAT RALLY.

The game at Emeryville had little to do with the game at San Francisco when it came to putting up a fight. The San Francisco team, led by Moore, pitched great ball up until the ninth inning, when they were bunched for four runs. The San Francisco team took a one run lead in the first, and then they jumped out in front with two more in the fourth. The San Francisco Union counted one in the fifth on two hits, and the score remained 3 to 2 in Moors favor until the ninth when the San Francisco team put over four runs, and the game was tied. The San Francisco team then went right after Tom Keating in the last out. Holding sacrifice with a double, Moore drove over the winning run when he got his third hit of the game. It was a game that eclipsed the one of the Sunday afternoon game, and the attendance should begin to show a big increase.

Dorothy Burns Is Winner in National 150-Yd. Backstroke

Dorothy Burns of Los Angeles is the new national 150-yard backstroke champion. She won the coveted A. U. gold medal at Idora Park yesterday afternoon. Slipping into second place came Lelia Dunkum of the University of California. Taking third place was Miss Charlotte Boyle, the national 50-yard champion. Miss Burns' time was 2:32 1-2. The national 50-yard champion, Miss Boyle, took the mark at the start were Miss Burns, Miss Dunkum, Miss Boyle and Claire Galligan. Neither Miss Boyle or Miss Galligan claim a national title, but while the world's 500-yard champion dropped out of the race before the finish, Miss Boyle stuck it out.

The stadium of the Stockton mermaid, Lelia Dunkum, in staying right at the heels of Miss Burns through the grueling race was a feature of the race. This is the same little mermaid who last year entered the national 50-yard dash at Idora, Sunday, April 28.

Accompanying Miss Dunkum was W. W. Wade, manager of the Stockton team, who was also in the race. Wade, who was also in the race, was also in the race. Wade, who was also in the race, was also in the race.

Sacramento Team Is Beaten in Golf by the Lincoln Club

The first leg of the home-and-home golf play between the Lincoln club and the Sacramento team, played at San Francisco, resulted in the capital city team losing twelve matches. The Lincoln team of 12 players, who just returned from a tour to suit themselves. The visitors seemed to be lost on the fine grass field at Lincoln Park. Bob Adams, who was in the race, was also in the race. Bob Adams, who was in the race, was also in the race.

South End Club Wins Coast Amateur Title in Neptune Meet

The South End Rowing and Swimming Club gained the Pacific Coast amateur championship for rowmen at Neptune Beach yesterday afternoon, and Cliff Deanehouse was the individual star of the winners, carrying off first place in the 100 and 400-yard races. Tony Messer, a local amateur, was the runner-up in the 100-yard race, while H. Emmal of the Alameda club was third. The winning time was 1:48.

Jack Bailey finished second in Moore's race in the 400-yard. Bailey is from the Alameda club, and Cliff Deanehouse is from the South End club. The South End also carried off the laurels in the relay race.

In a 25-yard dash, Sueck Pye, the Olympic Club juvenile champion, won first place from a field of fast youngsters. Paul Walsh of Neptune and Eddie Roper took third places. George Linner won the blindfold race.

Three Oaks Among the Best Hitters; Murray Is Gaining

Oakland has three of its regulars batting above the .300 mark, with Outfielder Dan Murray being the first of the trio with a batting average of .350, four points below his average of last week. Middleton is sixth among the other Coast leaguers. The next best is Hack Campbell with .345, a bettering his average over last week by one point. Dan Murray is the third Oaklander with more than .300. He is batting .317, eleven points below his last week's average.

Oakland has not got a man among the ten leading base stealers, while Hack Campbell leads the Coast country with 35 stolen bases. He is leading seventh in the best run scorers, he having seventh in 13. Fournier, Eldred and Willie are tied for being the best two base hitters with eleven each. Miller has eight, two baggers to be the best among the Oaks. Three base hit honors are held by Griggs with five, while Miller, Artlett, Fournier and Christensen are tied for the best among the Oaks with two each. Wittchell and Willie are the best sacrifice hitters with ten each. Gardner leads the Oaks with five and Christensen is next with four.

Ackerman Wins Golf Honors at Beresford

In a nip-and-tuck game of golf, Lloyd S. Ackerman won the championship of Beresford Country Club when he defeated L. Strassburger one up on the 18th hole. Strassburger looked like a winner in the forenoon when he held a lead of four up at the eighth hole, but before the morning session was over he was two were square because of Strassburger's nervousness.

The afternoon saw Strassburger card the first hole, and he kept his lead up to the fifth, when he lost one by hitting a long putt on the eighth green, but he won a long putt on the eighteenth green for a win and squared the match. On the last hole he sunk the putt for a win.

 Cleveland Shutout
 Six widely scattered hits is the best that Cleveland could gather off the defeat of St. Louis, which was pitched by east league pitcher, who occupied the mound for St. Louis, and they suffered from 10 whitewash. Gadsden got out

 Harry Hellman won a 2 to 2 game for Detroit over Chicago when he drove out the first run by a home run and then score a runner from third. He also secured a single. Risberg and McElmurray got hits, but Cleveland did not drive each out one for Chicago.
 Cushman failed to get a hit when Tony Cincinnati pitched his team to a 3 to 0 victory. Cincinnati got out out of four chances in the second inning when Pittsburgh won 4 to 3. Holder got one hit and scored two runs, while Kilmer went hitless for Chicago who defeated the St. Louis Nationals 3

For the third Sunday in a row Alameda tennis players have gone through seven matches without a single victory. Yesterday at Sacramento and today at Croix sent one of the double sets into double score against the MacSwain brothers, but could not win. In the singles, Obergberg looked for a while to put over a win, but he was defeated by the MacSwain brothers. The Alameda team played a 12 to 10 score before the Sacramento team could win; but Obergberg's loss was a severe blow to the Alameda team.

"NOISE" AND SOUND

When you hear bad news and you become blue, you are often told that this is "a psychic cause, which produces a psychic effect." It is nothing of the sort. It is a substantial, material impulse, producing a group of physical, actual changes in the blood and tissues. The nerves carry your eyes or ears as physical vibrations to a group of memories. Memories are past ideas or actual things founded upon real things. This stirs up your glands of emotion and yields certain structural alterations in the flesh and blood, which give you a melancholic mood.

If a disorder of the stomach or the skin starts the "blue-devils," the physical source of the emotion is undisputed. If it is noise that throws you into a fit of despondency, the cause is fully recognized as physical and not mental.

Dr. A. A. Brill of New York tells of a musical genius who complained of insomnia, which he maintained to be due to "street noises in the city and crickets and night-calls from the country." Persons who become hypersensitive to noises, blame their troubles on the sounds. This very patient could listen with rapture to music and yet believe that the crickets were his enemy.

Some of the greatest agonies of lence, have shown themselves in need of noise. For example, John Stewart Mills, who was an enemy of all noise, hired a man, according to Dr. Brill, to beat a drum next to the room in which he worked in order to stimulate his thoughts.

SOME ODD INSTANCES.

The philosopher Hegel finished his principal work on the eve of the battle of Jena, amidst the thunder of cannon, and the idea of interfering with conscious thinking, produces an incentive to thought.

Sleep is a cessation of conscious ideas. It cannot take place when the stream of unconscious or conscious ideas is so rich and varied. The ideas which ramble on one idea. Ideas which can ramble on from conscious states to the unconscious thinking, sometimes produces an incentive to thought.

If you keep too vigorous an attention on your ideas, after you compose yourself for sleep; if you maintain an emotional element or any feelings with them, you will lie awake or have only fitful sleep.

Music serves to release the feelings of indignation or irritability and these emotions make the ideas vivid and con-

Charles Dickens, Schopenhauer and Camille Saint-Saëns are the names best known as the implacable enemies of all hellish sounds. In 1864 Dickens edited a brochure with anti-noise facts and arguments contributed by some of the greatest persons of his day.

It is not surprising that a hypersensitive sense of hearing is present occasionally in many people. A creaky floor, a rattling window or a flapping curtain may occasionally give such victims the "fidgets."

NOISE AND MUSIC.

It is no surprise, in the light of the part which sounds play in human lives, that noises should loosen certain unpleasant emotions in people whose will fails to dominate their feelings.

Children, the young and the vigorous are more resistant or find more pleasure in noises than do the older and less healthy. Martial music to incite action,

The mild median of the average, the rhapsodies of love and excited civilization require soft, soothing, gentle, and calm melodies. The supersensitive ears of the rugged, bold natures are made ill by the strong sounds of conquering heroes.

Tautonic music, like that of savages, often is noisy, raucous and loud, significant of the strength and virility, sentiment, and the enhancement of materialistic reality and efficiency at any cost and without scruples.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUESTIONS.

INTERESTED—Q. My hair is very straight. How can I make it curly?

A. If you will use the following preparation, which is peculiarly suitable for dry hair, you will find it will grow and curl quite curly. After applying to the hair with a soft sponge the hair should be rolled up on paper-covered rubber curlers or on hairpins covered with paper.

Carbonate of potash.....	1½	ounces
Gum arabic.....	1½	ounces
Rosewater.....	2	pints

CONSTANT READER.—Q. I am tormented with a very severe pain in my back. Kindly give me an idea of what causes this.

A. Backache may have its source in the internal structure of the body, it may come from musculo strain, constipation and other things. You should change your bed, mattress and the room you sleep in. Go to bed early and take a hot bath before bedtime. Keep your bowels open twice a day and use a vibrator or small electric battery on your back. You should have an internal examination made to determine the real cause.

Murderer of Los Angeles Chauffeur Being Sought By Officials of Oakland

TRADE OF AUTO BY CRIPPLE IS START OF HUNT

The murderer of Roy Mettler, a Los Angeles chauffeur, whose body was found with a bullet wound in the back, a short distance off the highway, is being traced by the local police and the sheriff's office. The search is centered around the actions of a cripple, who used Mettler's name and who traded the murdered man's machine to T. J. Rowan, proprietor of a garage at 2022 Broadway for another automobile and $25.

The police and the sheriff's office are at work on the case, and hope to capture the cripple. They have a good description of him, and the number and description of the automobile he got in exchange for Mettler's machine. It is believed that with these clues in the possession of the authorities, it will be difficult for the man to escape.

Mettler was deliberately murdered for his automobile, is the belief of the Los Angeles police, who have been working on the case. He was apparently shot from behind by a man in the rear seat and thrown from the machine.

Mettler left Los Angeles last Tuesday for San Francisco with a passenger. The identity of the passenger has not been learned, but a description of him will be obtained and telegraphed to the local police to see whether it tallies with that of the man who arrived in Hayward in Mettler's car and later traded it for a smaller machine and $25 as the difference between the value of the two autos.

PROBE IS STARTED.
The first investigation of Mettler's disappearance was made at the instance of the Oakland police. Suspicious circumstances surrounding the trade of Mettler's car here led the Oakland police to ask the Los Angeles authorities to investigate.

At the same time Walter Mettler, a brother, notified the Los Angeles police that he had not heard from his brother for almost a week. The discovery of the body in a clump of weeds off the road near Lebec, and the finding of his bankbook on the highway by a passing autoist, brought the investigation to a head.

The man supposed to have been Mettler's passenger reached Hayward with the car last Wednesday. The clutch had broken, and he placed it in the Cole Garage. He registered on the same day under the name of "H. C. Messier, Los Angeles."

"Messier" visited Rowan at his garage, picked out a Studebaker car, and took Ryan out to the Cole Garage to examine Mettler's machine. A trade was struck, the man who gave his name as Mettler to Rowan accepting a Studebaker for a Chandler car, with $100 in cash and a check for $135.

Saturday afternoon Rowan learned the name under which "Mettler" had registered at the Hotel Oakland was "Messier." He became suspicious, stopped payment on the check and notified the police.

HAD CHECKED OUT.
"Messier" had already checked out when the police sought him at the Hotel Oakland.

Inspectors Lou Agnew and William Smith went over the details of the trade with Rowan, and then notified the Los Angeles police. Captain of Inspectors H. E. B. Green stated today that he believed that the man had cashed the Rowan check Saturday, and that it would come through the clearing house today.

Sheriff Frank Barnett today detailed

SAM STONE IS DOUBLE PATRIOT OR JUST JOKER

"Ignorant" Private From Militias Found to Be Not So "Ignorant."

Samuel Woodson Stone, private, when he hailed into Oakland from Milpitas with a bunch of raw recruits on his way to American Lake a week ago yesterday did something. He joined Oakland Chapter, American Red Cross. The local records have as pretty a story about his ignorance of the patriotic society with its long chapters of helpfulness as can be found in the same annals of the far-fung organization. Deep gratitude for the oranges and apples, tobacco, comfort kits, friendly smiles, moved one Samuel Woodson Stone, to inquire what and why and how this splendid reception at Sixteenth street station to men on their way to training, and an innocent plea to join himself and "get in on any proposition so good as that" on the ground it was just "what the boys needed."

The story of the Milpitas man who had never heard of the American Red Cross, which he deposited with John Davidson for his humble membership has been looked upon with respect. To the new soldier at Camp Lewis has gone a kindly fellowship. But now the perplexity comes. Did one Samuel Woodson Stone "put one over" on the eager Red Cross workers here? Or was he just ignorant? Or did he catch the spirit of the screen of ignorance as the easiest way out? Or did he just want to prove the historical old town of Milpitas from which he hailed as far out of the world as raveling houses could have the city believe? Or was he just a humorist?

Be that as it may, according to official records in Milpitas and according to Miss M. E. Waller, chairman of the Milpitas auxiliary to the American Red Cross, Samuel Woodson Stone has been a member in good standing of that branch since last summer. He joined in the summer drive. He was enthusiastic not only in his support of the local Red Cross work, but was then making an effort to enlist in the United States navy. But Uncle Sam did not take him along with the boys on the seas and he waited for the May draft. Stone is about 30 years of age.

He is a member of the Milpitas auxiliary of the American Red Cross. He is a member of the Oakland chapter, American Red Cross, and perhaps if en route to the north he was supposed to be weighed down with gifts of good things to eat, he is a member, cherished for his ignorance, in any number of other chapters of American Red Cross. Perhaps his motto is, "There can not be too much of a good thing," but he has not said. He has just kept on joining. But he was the Milpitas auxiliary which exploded the pretty story which Oakland had to tell and did it in justice to the patriotic little town.

MAKES LONG FLIGHT.
TOKIO, May 6.—The Japanese are very proud of the achievement of Masao Goto, a young civilian aviator, who has just flown from Tokyo to Osaka, a distance of 350 miles.

Deputy Sheriff Soares to work with the Oakland police on the case, and to take charge of the Mettler automobile at the Cole Garage.

According to descriptions obtained by the police the man who traded the Mettler machine is short in stature, of dark complexion, and in the left leg and with the left hand also slightly disabled.

PASTOR TELLS Y. M. C. A. HUT LIFE AT FRONT

Graphic details of his life before the firing line have been received in a letter from Rev. R. E. Hummel, former pastor of the Fruitvale Presbyterian Church, who left Oakland last Christmas for service with the Y. M. C. A. at the front. He tells of his Y. M. C. A. hut being shelled by German guns and of the service done the soldiers by his organization. The letter was received by Mrs. Hummel and dated April 7. It is addressed to his congregation. It reads as follows:

The second lap of my journey into the unknown has been accomplished and I find myself in a position to acquaint you with the meager details of a period extending over six weeks. In my last letter I told you of the journey to France and Paris impressions. I am now about to tell you of a period of most intense activity less than two miles from the front line trenches of one of our sectors.

WORK IS STRENUOUS.
I arrived there on a Monday afternoon and found a busy man selling all manner of merchandise over a crude counter in a wooden hut to many khaki-clad forms. He was sick and very worn after only two weeks of service. I dumped my belongings in the sleeping room and at once took his place at the counter. About two hours later the head of the hut Mr. Pest, came in from the trench line. He began a most agreeable relationship with a truly remarkable man. His only fault was a mistaken notion that a man can only render the best service by breaking himself. That he did not do badly for us both, in that it robbed us of sufficient sleep to keep fit, and I am not yet more than 50 per cent normally fit after four days' rest.

Our service briefly consisted in supplying chocolate, tobacco, cakes, candy, etc., to the men, also hot drinks. The most appreciated service, and consequently the most agreeable to render, was the hot drinks, given free. We kept them on hand all the time, tea one day and cocoa the next. They were especially valuable on the nights the men came out of the trenches. After eight nights in the cold and wet and mud, with little to eat, and mostly cold food, after a march of four miles through the winding trenches and mud with a full pack, many a man's outlook on life was completely changed by that cup of steaming tea. We carried a small stove with us, and a day and sold goods to as many men—two of us. We were open from 8:30 a. m. until midnight regularly and 3 a. m. on trench nights.

PAY DAY NIGHTMARE.

Pay days are a nightmare to us, especially if we had a good stock on hand. A soldier with money has no peace until it is gone. Then, too, everything in army life seems to drive him to consider only numbers. One comes from the pay line to the canteen line determined to get all he is allowed and get it first. And who can blame him, for all too frequently there is nothing to get. When he comes in that mood and we have a speech in a manner. One wrong word or shrug and up goes a flare that may be a bombardment if your general is asleep. All day long and every day, almost, that line of soldiers comes and goes, and we had a good stock and four pay-days; also a change of men. From Saturday 4 p. m. until Thursday evening there was only a two-minute lull from 9 o'clock in the morning until 9 o'clock at night. I stood at the counter one day for five hours handing out goods as fast as I could without one minute's intermission. A soldier boy who handed out drinks one day for three hours said to me, "I don't know how you stand it."

Of course we did other things, too. One week we had something every night, from a boxing match to religious service. Of course we never were sure that an advertised meeting would come off. One Sunday evening service was interrupted by an order to move out of town because of an expected bombardment. Our Easter service was never held. In fact the men were being relieved from the trenches.

HUT IN FIRING ZONE.

Our hut was not in a safety zone. At the beginning of every bombardment we got a shell too close for comfort. One night the alarm was sounded and all the men dug out for the duration except me. I grabbed a broom and began sweeping. Then a three-inch whizz-bang landed in the lot fifteen feet from the hut wall and twenty-five feet from where I was. Seven shell splinters came through on one side of me and one on the other. Then I grabbed my money box and dug out, too. The next morning two shell splinters were picked up from the floor, which I expect to show you some day.

My first night a gas alarm was sounded at 4 in the morning and we suffocated in our masks for two hours. A week ago a gas shell landed seventy-five feet beyond us and we kept the masks on for three hours while the whizz-bangs went over head. Twice in delivering goods to the trenches I came under machine gun fire. So you see it behooves a sky pilot to be ready for the sky. Nevertheless, my new assignment will take me away from such things for a while at least.

TALKS WITH HEROES.

I have talked personally with an 18-year-old boy who brought in a German prisoner and with a big Swede who turned back from Germany single handed by killing their leader. I have seen the hardest hearted become melted by one turn in the trenches. The spirit of our troops is excellent. They have only one dread, that of being held a long time in the trenches and waiting to get it over with. I have been with both National Guard and regular army troops and their spirit is the same. If the fighting becomes

Driver of Auto "Took a Chance"; Result: Four Lives Snuffed Out

What was left of death-auto after Arturo Elias "took a chance on something going wrong."

Girls Die When "Something Went Wrong" With Machine in the Path of East Oakland Train

Arturo Elias took a chance of "something going wrong."

With his two little daughters, their girl playmate and two young women in his automobile, he attempted to cross the tracks when there was a Southern Pacific train bearing down upon him. "Something went wrong and today there are four persons dead as a result of Elias taking the chance.

"I thought it was safe," Elias moaned at the receiving hospital today when told of the fatal consequences of the accident. "Something went wrong. I thought I had time to get across all right, and I would have; I know I would have. But something must have gone wrong."

Police and the coroner's office are today trying to ascertain what it was that "went wrong." Elias had purchased the automobile in which he was driving only recently, and was not yet thoroughly familiar with its operation. A witness saw him just as he was attempting to cross in front of the train, and said that there was no apparent slowing down. Elias believes his machine failed him at the crucial moment.

The accident happened when Elias, 703 Thirty-sixth street, attempted to drive his automobile across the Southern Pacific tracks at Thirty-fourth street and East Twelfth street in front of an approaching electric suburban train. His machine was caught broadside by the train.

The automobile was dragged for almost 600 feet before the train could be brought to a halt, according to Coroner Grant D. Miller. In that distance the machine was smashed to tatters and the bodies of the occupants, with the exception of Elias and his 8-year-old daughter, Genevieve, who were thrown clear, were frightfully mangled.

WORE THEIR VEILS.

Mary Elias, 12-year-old daughter of the driver of the machine, and Frances Moynagh, 730 Thirty-sixth street, who wore confirmation dresses and veils of white, as they were just returning from the Franciscan monastery chapel, where they had been confirmed.

Little Frances Moynagh had entered the automobile just a few minutes before the accident occurred. A boy friend of the family had been riding with them when the party passed the little girl on her way home. They had given up his place to the girl, who was apparently tired.

Children of the neighborhood told Mrs. Moynagh, mother of the child, of the accident. The mother started out alone to find her daughter, and it was several hours before relatives found her still wandering, almost crazed by grief, in the streets. She insisted upon being taken to the morgue to see the body of the child before she would believe that she was really dead. There she gave frantic expression to her sorrow and was taken home in a state bordering on dementia.

Elias is suffering from a fractured pelvis and bruises and lacerations of the face and head.

Those killed in the accident were:

MARY ELIAS, 12 years old, daughter of the driver of the machine.

FRANCES MOYNAGH, 12 years old, a girl playmate of Mary Elias, who had just been confirmed with her.

MARY GARRETTA, 25 years old, dressmaker, sister-in-law of Elias, 20 Noble place, San Francisco.

MARY ELIAS, 21 years old, 2333 Jones street, San Francisco, friend of Mary Garrettta.

The only member of the party who escaped with but slight injury was little 8-year-old Genevieve Elias, who was thrown clear when the automobile was wrecked, and received only small bruises and scratches.

Elias either miscalculated the distance, or something went wrong with the automobile or his manipulation of the controls.

IS ARRESTED.

Horace Dunn, 1824 West street, engineer of the train, was placed under arrest on a technical charge of manslaughter, but was released on his own recognizance. The police believe that he was not responsible, as the machine, in cutting in front of his open, American "pen" is bound to assert itself.

Now, friends, there may be some among you who have thought lightly of religion, and others who are afraid to press its claims on children especially. For you I have this word. "There are no atheists in the trenches." Before bullets and death men turn to God and find Him. Don't be foolish enough to believe that God is unnecessary to your life—and all of you, give Him a larger place than you have ever done before.

We have no fear of the ultimate outcome of the war here. Another big offensive by the German perhaps, and then the steady push backwards. God's son beams his shine on more as the enemy is shown of his power.

Sincerely and lovingly, your pastor,

R. B. HUMMEL.

ANTI-SEDITION LAW INVOKED IN BERKELEY

BERKELEY, May 6.—The first complaint under Berkeley's new anti-sedition ordinance, which went into effect yesterday, was filed with the police today by Mrs. L. J. Stevens, 2100 McKinley avenue, who charged Mrs. Emma Moore, 2035 Virginia street, and Mrs. Bertha Keissig, 2037 Virginia street, with disrespect to the United States in refusing to rise when "The Star-Spangled Banner" was sung at a pageant given last Friday on the University of California campus.

Mrs. Stevens declares that when she asked the women why they did not rise, together with some 15,000 or more persons who were spectators at the pageant, they both said that they were not patriotic. Both women pleaded ignorance of patriotic customs when questioned by Berkeley police officials today.

Mrs. Keissig admitted that she is a native of Germany, but declared that she had been in this country for nineteen years and had two sons in the United States Army. She became vehement at mention of stories of German atrocities. "They're not true," she cried. "They are exaggerated, every one of them."

WORK FOR U. S.

When questioned by the police as to what branch of the service her sons were in she stated that Paul, the eldest, was 32 years old and that while he was included in the first draft, he was not called, and is now, according to his mother, working for the Government in Ohio. A younger son, William, aged 22, Mrs. Keissig said, was at Denning, New Mexico, with the transportation division of the United States Army. A third son is living with his mother in Berkeley.

Mrs. Moore, who is accused jointly with Mrs. Keissig, declared to the police that she did not know it was the custom in this country to rise when national anthems were sung.

As both of the alleged unpatriotic acts occurred forty-eight hours before Berkeley's anti-sedition ordinance went into effect, Chief of Police August Vollmer declared today that the police were powerless to act against the women.
